PTA Organizes For New Year

The Cameron Parent - Teacher Association is organizing and planning programs for the new school year, with new officers and committee chairmen meeting Monday night.

The first meeting of the PTA for the public will be held Tuesday, September 12 at 7:30 p.m. on the Yoe High football field.

The program will be a musical concert by the Yoe High band under the direction of Donald Czaplinski. Following the concert the school board and all school personnel will be introduced. Refreshments will be served.

The officers for 1972-73 are: Mr. and Mrs. Bill McCutchen, president; Mrs. Thomas Raymond, first vice president; Mrs. Irving Bornfeld, second vice president; Mrs. Skipp Hobbs, secretary; Mrs. Jimmy Bledsoe, treasurer; Mrs. Irene Simmons, historian; and Mrs. Edward Demerson, parliamentarian.

These committees have been appointed for the coming year: membership, publications and magazines, Mrs. Irving Bornfeld; hospitality, Mrs. Robert Clark and Mrs. Louis Hollas; publicity, Mrs. Thomas Raymond, Mrs. Ann Gaskey and Mrs. LeRoy Doskocil.

In an appeal for members, the local PTA issued the following statement:

"As a member of our PTA, you will belong to the National PTA, a nationwide, democratic, voluntary organization that centers its whole interest on the welfare and education of children and youth.

"As a member of our PTA, you can help give every child in our community a chance to achieve a life that is satisfying to himself and useful to others.

"As a member of our PTA, you can join helpful study - decision groups concerned with the physical, mental, emotional and spiritual development of children.

"As a member of our PTA, you will have opportunities to meet the teachers, principals and school officials, who, through our PTA and its programs, keep us up to date on the objectives, curriculums, and achievements of our schools.

"As a member of our PTA, you can add your voice to those of millions of other citizens whose efforts have enabled schools to secure more funds for teachers' salaries for improved school equipment and new schools, and for the enrichment of school programs in general.

"As a member of our PTA, you will be doing your share, through your local, state, and national membership, to strengthen the entire PTA organization and its program, thereby increasing educational opportunities and community resources for all children."

Mentioned more than once in this column, the Cameron German Folk Fete Dancers are going into the majors of folk dancing September 9 in San Antonio.

Organized to dance in Cameron's Folk Fete, the German dancers are part of a larger interpretation of the Folk Fete idea at the first Texas Folklife Festival at the Institute of Texan Cultures on the HemisFair Grounds in San Antonio.

They will dance a five-minute medley twice in the afternoon and an eight-minute medley that evening. Charles Kunz is directing the dance group.

Another Central Texas group, the Seaton Hall Champion Beseda Dancers, will be there, along with groups dancing Greek, Indian, Irish, Japanese, Jewish, Lebanese, Polish, Spanish and Scottish steps.

There are also 30 musical acts, including soloists and large musical groups; 21 ethnic festival or pioneer groups serving food; 30 artists and craftsmen; and 19 representatives of regional festivals and dramas.

Do you get the idea that Folk Fete is part of something big, if not the first of a larger kind?

Congratulations to these talented Cameron people.

113-113-113

For what it's worth, 113 is playing in the Austin Aqua-Festival tennis tournament Friday morning, August 25, at Austin's Caswell Tennis Center. Several players from the Temple-Cameron-Waco area are entered. With a little luck, some of us may be around for additional competition Saturday in doubles and singles.

Maybe I could get the German dancers to learn a good "goose-step" so they could intimidate any prospective opponents before we take to the courts.

The last real singles I played was in the Army at Fort Sill during a post tournament there. A former National Juniors champion who played his college tennis at Princeton beat me in straight sets in the semi-finals or so that year. It was interesting tennis.

I took up newspapers in the intervening years. It may have been too long ago.

But there are some promising younger players in this area, several just out of high school, who should move along in Texas competition. For example, Bill Matyastik, whose family is from Cameron and Milam County originally, is going to vaunted Trinity University of San Antonio as a freshman. He won a national school boy title in the East a few weeks ago. He will be playing for the best college tennis team in the nation.

I hope the resurgence of national interest in tennis rubs off in Cameron where the number of players is 50 times or more the number of tennis courts. If you watch the pros on television, players like Rosewall and Laver, you get the notion that tennis is a fast spectator sport as well as a great participant sport.

I, of course, am prejudiced.

PENETRATING EYES

I am not one to stare,
If observing is considered fair,
But I find one's eyes tell
A full story, a great deal.
One's eyes are the depth of one's self,
Penetrating a beholder in truth,
Until he, as I, is absorbed
By dimension worth a lifetime of inquiry.

Former Guardsmen Organize

The Central Texas National Guard Association was organized by a group of former Guardsmen in the area late last week at a meeting that was held on the grounds of "Bend of the River" near Belton.

About 115 former members of Guard units, mostly those in the old 649th Battalion of the 49th Armored Division, attended Lt. Col. Olin F. Brewster (ret) said.

The organizational meeting was followed by a barbeque supper on the picnic grounds.

Officers elected were: Dr. Robert Busby, president; Alan Beach, 1st. vice president; Sam Catler, 2nd vice president; Bill Gibson, secretary-treasurer.

Named to the board of directors were: Lee Roy Dana, Almon Borgas, Don Norman, James Terry, Bedmand McMakin, Pete Kunz, Delmer Nichols, Tom Fowler, and Eugene Enbrock.

Former Guardsmen were on hand from all of the cities where the 649th Bn. units were located -- Temple, Belton, Taylor and Cameron. Others came from cities as far away as Austin. Cameron was represented by more than a half dozen former Guard members.

In a short speech, Brewster, who was a long time Battalion commander, traced the history of the Guard unit from the time it was started after World War II as the 239th Field Artillery Bn and later included in the 49th Armored Division until that division was phased out several years ago.

During the business session, by-laws were adopted for the Association, and plans were made to hold meetings annually or oftener. Officers and directors also were elected for the coming year.

Maysfield Votes 'No' To Consolidation

Voters in the Maysfield School District voted against consolidation with the larger Cameron School district by a 2-1 margin Saturday, negating Cameron's overwhelming approval of the measure.

Maysfield turned back the merger by a vote of 46-23 while Cameron approved it by 103 to 25. The turnout at Maysfield -- the 69 votes -- almost doubled the number of students in the school district.

Maysfield last year held classes for eight grades with two teachers and two teachers' aides. The district has a planned cutback to six grades for this school year.

Questionnaire Probes Four County Area

Milam, Falls Robertson and Williamson county residents favor more vocational education in public schools, and, surprisingly, favor higher college tuition for students, according to a survey made by the office of Rep. Dan Kubiak.

Questionnaires were sent to residents of the four counties recently, with these results:

Eighty-three percent favored strong legislation to make public officials "toe the line", while five percent were against the idea and 12 percent were undecided.

Revision of current insurance rates and insurance laws was favored by an overwhelming 88 percent; seven percent were against and five percent were undecided.

On the question of balancing the budget with present taxes, 78 percent were for the proposition, 17 percent were against and five percent were undecided.

Kubiak said the 61 percent favoring higher college tuition for students was "startling and may have been a rare sample," 35 percent were against and four percent were undecided.

Eighty-five percent favored liability insurance for all drivers when they register their cars; 12 percent were against this, and three percent were undecided.

Higher insurance rates for drivers who have received tickets drew 71 percent for and 24 percent against with five percent undecided.

Most residents favored stronger state laws than federal laws in controlling pollution, with 55 percent against stronger federal laws and 41 percent for it. Four percent were undecided.

Seventy-three percent of the residents questioned favor more vocational education in public schools, with 27 percent against.

But they turned down the idea of state funds being used to support private schools by 61 percent. Twenty-two percent of those questioned favor the idea and 17 percent are undecided.

State regulation or control of handguns drew 69 percent against the proposal and 24 percent in favor, with seven percent undecided.

And on the perennial question of Daylight Savings Time, 46 percent said they were in favor of it while 44 percent were against. And 10 percent were undecided.

Kubiak said his office will mail out, in the near future, questionnaires to constituents in Falls, Milam and Williamson counties in the new District 36 to get a sampling of the vital issues that will confront the Legislature when it convenes in January.

DAY CARE CENTER OPENS OCTOBER 1

The Cameron Day Care Center will open October 1 and applications for an administrator and two assistants are being accepted according to Alvis Coleman, Day Care Center board chairman.

More than a year of delays in state approval have frustrated attempts to open a day care center although local support had been pledged and a location for the center found.

The center is budgeted at $12,000 per year with every $3 in local support matched by $7 in state and federal funds. Coleman said the center will provide not only baby sitting, but medical and dental care, psychological testing and family counseling.

Rev. Coleman said health department approval was pending installation of carpeting in the center, a home at 3rd and Travis owned by the First United Methodist Church. He said some play equipment is still needed such as puppets, rubber animals and a play kitchen.

He said the day care center will also need volunteers to enrich the program with story telling, music and play activity. McLennan Community College will provide 18 hours of training in Cameron for both paid and volunteer workers.

The center will care for 20 children ages 3 through 6 from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays. Children will be accepted at the day care center according to family need.

"Our goal is to free mothers for employment whose families are existing on a poverty level, and to provide care for children presently being left alone while their mother is at work," Rev. Coleman said.

He said parents would be encouraged to help at the center when possible and a parents organization would elect one member to serve on the Center's board of directors.

Friends Open Drive

Friends of the Cameron Library opened its annual membership drive with a reception at the library Monday. Exhibits of new adult fiction and children's books were arranged in displays for the public.

The drive continues this week, with memberships available in five categories. Honorary memberships are $25, supporting membership $15, sustaining $10, individual $5, and students $1.

Proceeds from Friends of the Library memberships will be designated for library enrichment projects and book purchases. The funds also aid in keeping the library eligible for state and federal grants each year.

An exhibit of art selected by the Texas Fine Arts Association will be shown at the library for two weeks beginning September 7. Mrs. Robert Ellett is chairman of the art committee.

LIBRARY FRIENDS OPEN HOUSE drew these visitors who are shown looking over a display of brand new additions to the library shelves. The open house opened the Friends annual drive for funds for the local library. From left, Mrs. Douglas Perrin, Mrs. Tommy Chamberlain, Mrs. E. A. Perrin, and Miss Mildred Thornton.

Library Needs Funds...

This is Cameron Library Week.

Your Cameron Library has more than tripled its book count, from 3,000 at the modern building's opening in 1966, to more than 10,000 in 1972.

Part of the support has been through Friends of the Library who are currently sponsoring a fund drive toward additional support to the growing budgetary needs of this larger book count and program, including cultural plans already announced.

Chairman of Cameron Public Library already has appeared before the City Council to explain the growth needs for Cameron Library.

This Friends drive is one of several sources beside a 5 cent city tax approved years ago, county and some state book money.

It is becoming imperative for the Library to grow anew since it now has passed the 10,000 - book milestone and is serving half of Milam County's population.

The Mayor has proclaimed this Cameron Library Week. The Library Friends are asking support for boosting a successful library program.

It is now more than a Cameron Library by its very success. It is a Milam area library. Your contributions will keep it growing. . .

Little Evidence...

Cameron District voters are to be congratulated on their 4-1 support for consolidation of Cameron and Maysfield districts. They also supported a 1970 attempt to consolidate with Milano, whose voters said "no."

Given all the reasons, we do not understand the 2-1 vote against the consolidation in Maysfield. The Milano and Maysfield situations are not analogous. Milano has about 300 students, Maysfield about 40.

The Cameron District's interest, both in these consolidation efforts and the voting record for them, shows the 300-square-mile district is actively interested in good education. That interest goes deep enough to look to an upcoming $1.2 million bond issue.

Perhaps additional consideration will be given Maysfield students before Milam County School Board. There is little evidence the majority of voters in Maysfield knows or cares what happens to them.

"Low Down" FROM THE Congressional Record

By JOE CRUMP

(A Column for Readers Who Haven't Time to Review the Congressional Record Daily)

MAFIA EYES THE MEAT COUNTER

SENATOR CLIFFORD P. HANSEN (Wyo.) "...Recently the Farm Journal published an article by Ralph D. Wennblom entitled "How the Mafia Drives Up Meat Prices."... The article was ordered printed in the Record. (Condensed article follows:)

(By Ralph D. Wennblom)

Certain members of Congress from New York have clamored the loudest for price controls on meat. Meanwhile, back in Manhattan, the forces of organized crime systematically add on at least $1 million a week to the meat bills of 18 million consumers in the Greater New York area.

These racketeers probably make more profit on meat between the unloading dock and the store counter than you normally do from feeding the animals for several months.

Unfortunately, the key people in the syndicates of organized crime are hard to nail in court. No one in the meat business is senseless enough to face up to the mobsters on their own, and precious few people have the courage to cooperate with law enforcement officials. Fears of reprisal against your business, your family and your life are very real.

People were reluctant to talk with me as I gathered information for this article. "These people are gangsters," said one source. "I look the other way when they're around, and you writers damn well better too, or you'll make a splash all right -- in the river with a chunk of cement tied to your ankle."

Ownership of legitimate business by organized crime, which they run in an illegitimate way, is part of the trend. "They especially like the meat business because it lends itself to concealing large earnings from gambling and loan-sharking," says one Federal source.

Because meat packers operate on such thin margins, slaughtering usually doesn't appeal to the racketeers. They prefer to take over when dressed meat arrives at the unloading dock. Without the mob's permission, your meat probably won't be unloaded. Or 10 carcasses somehow get "lost" enroute to the buyer's cooler. Once in the wholesaler's cooler, the meat becomes fair game for everyone up the line except the consumer who can do nothing except pick up the tab for the financial shenanigans and blame the farmers for high meat prices.

Alfred J. Scotti, the gutsey Chief Assistant District Attorney in charge of the Rackets Bureau says flatly that unless unions devote themselves exclusively to the welfare of their members, and the meat industry concentrates on protecting the integrity of its business, "both will become helpless captives of organized crime." Maybe they already have.

* * * * *

CRUMP'S GRASS ROOTS COMMENT

Because the fear of reprisal is very real, individuals are helpless. It will take unions cooperating with law enforcement officials to stamp out organized crime.

Poland Farmer Branded For Farm Production

By Michael Lockley

WARSAW

Kazimierz Kulwawiec was just too enterprising a private farmer to succeed.

Local bureaucrats branded him a "millionaire" and even muttered that he must be a speculator -- a mortal sin in the communist book --although his profits were only slightly above the reverse Polish wage. Other farmers called him a fool for working hard.

His production figures -- 177 pigs and 6,000 ducks a year for export to the west --were so high that government agricultural advisers said his performance was impossible.

Officials in the southeast region of Lublin cut off credits for installations, such as electricity, to modernize his farm.

The treatment of the alleged millionaire -- one of Poland's millions of smallholders -- was "shocking" the national communist party daily Trybuna Ludu, which exhaustively investigated the case.

The on-the-spot investigation reflected government incouragement of criticism against bureaucratic arrogance and general inefficiency in industry and agriculture.

At the same time it underscored the fact that, after more than 25 years of communist rule, at least 80 per cent of farms in Poland -- unlike other east European countries -- are still in private hands. They are also scarcely mechanized, still using horses far more than tractors.

Kulwawiec, harassed by the attitude of officials, drastically cut back his production of animals to be sold to the west by state enterprises.

Even though his farm was only 30 acres and his house was so modest as to be almost a shambles, he got good results from breeding methods used in the west.

Local officials, said the party organ, talked about him with hostility. "They don't call him a breeder or a farmer -- but a millionaire. They don't say he has a meat factory, but a money factory."

Not that Kulwawiec was really making a fortune. He was just better off than his unenterprising neighbors who had their debts annulled and were pardoned if they were late with compulsory deliveries of produce which farmers have to make to the state.

"I have come to the conclusion that the best thing is to be an underdeveloped farmer," his wife lamented to Trybuna Ludu. Kulwawiec added: "Nobody cares that I produce a lot of meat for the state. I do not want anything more than an easier way for me to buy building materials and a tractor, and give me a small bank credit."

Instead, officials gave him an honorary diploma as an "outstanding farmer and breeder" and then cut off his credit, demanded repayment of debts they had promised to annul if he improved the run - down farm, dismissed his plans for improvements and refused to give him building materials.

Kulwawiec is a road engineer who came into farming because his dying mother asked him to take over her small holding. Although he had no agricultural training, he set up a system of intense breeding and feeding in buildings he built with his own hands. He had no laborers.

Traybuna Ludu, which told of an attempt by a provincial newspaper to gain some kind of fair treatment for the farmer, said he finally appealed directly to the party's national central committee which passed the case back to the local communist organization.

Lions Hear Drug Talk

Larry Coker was speaker for the Noon Lions Club Monday. He spoke on "Drugs, legal and illegal."

Coker is the new pharmacist at Dusek's Pharmacy and moved to Cameron in June. He is a graduate of the University of Houston's School of Pharmacy.

In addition to explaining the illegal drugs, he told Lions that many of the legal drugs are used in the wrong way and people become dependent on them.

He said accidents are caused by the wrong use of legal drugs. "The most abused drug is alcohol," Coker said, "which causes more trouble and crime than all the other drugs put together. There are between six and eight million alcoholics in the United States."

Small Grain Planting Time

By Bill McCutchen

After the freeze in early January this year that killed most of the small grains in this part of the state, there were quite a few people who vowed that they wouldn't plant small grains again. Here it is almost planting time again and most of those have forgotten that vow and rightly so, because the killing freeze we had last year was extremely rare.

Small grains are without doubt the best winter pasture available and as expensive as it is it beats hauling hay and feeding range cubes as for as I am concerned and nothing short of a feed lot will give you better gains.

If favorable moisture is available a lot of small grain will be planted in the next few weeks. It may be tempting to omit seed treatment in hopes that seed borne or seedling diseases will not be a problem but considering the cost of seed treatment fungicides, one cannot afford to take the risk.

WARNING TO HORSEMEN

Several cases of a syndrome commonly called "Sorghum Cystitis" have been reported to the large animal clinic at the Texas A&M Veterinary College. The condition occurs frequently during times of medium to high rainfall, usually from June to November.

Horses usually have a common history of grazing hybrid plants resulting from crossing sorghum vulgare (sorghum) with S. vulgore var. sudanese (sudan). Other cases have been reported in horses grazing varieties of sorghum or Johnsongrass mixed with native grass pastures.

The disease occured most often when the plant material was young and growing rapidly.

The first signs usually seen have been uncoordination of the rear legs; this has been followed by urinary difficulties in about half of the horses.

Complete recovery from this disease have not been reported. The only prevention of this syndrome is to keep equines off sudan type pastures.

COTTON HARVEST

This will be an excellent year for farmers to apply insecticides to their dessiccants and defoliants to kill bollweevils. I would suggest the application of methyl parathion or Guthion with these dessicants or defoliants. This will help to cut down the number of boll weevils for next year's crop.

As soon as the cotton is harvested cut the stalks and plow so that cotton will not take regrowth, because regrowth cotton can furnish enough squares for boll weevils to build up enough fat reserve to go through the winter.

Some communities are going together on these diapause control programs and this will do the community a great service for next year.

Most cotton is early with an early harvest possible that should be a big help in controlling next years weevil populations if producers will destroy stalks as soon as possible.

2,4-D USAGE

Application of hormone type herbicides as defoliants may be made without restriction during the period August 25th to November 30th of each year in Milam County.

CLOSE ROWS - Vence Corpora, Milam County farmer, shows Dan Chadbourne of Bryan the ground cover and weed control maintained with cotton planted in 26 inch rows. Corpora is using this closer row spacing along with chemicals and reduced tillage to take care of the needs of the land, while reducing overall production costs.

A Weekly Report Of Agri-Business News

Compiled From Sources
Of The Texas Department of Agriculture
John C. White, Commissioner

Cotton Production Up . . . Cattle Production Up . . . Crop Production Up.

The 1972 cotton crop in Texas is estimated now at more than one million bales above 1971, the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service notes.

Production this season is set now at 3,600,000 bales; this is an increase of 1,021,000 bales over production in 1971. Production last year was the smallest since 1946.

Acres for harvest are estimated at 5,125,000 acres compared with 4,700,000 acres of 1971. Abandonment from all causes is expected to total 325,000 acres. Last year 530,000 acres were abandoned.

Yield is expected to average 337 pounds of lint per acre compared with only 263 pounds per acre in 1971.

Nationwide, cotton production is estimated at 13,343,100 bales; this is 27 per cent more than the 1971 total. Acreage for harvest this year is set at 13,200,000 acres compared to 11,500,000 acres in 1971.

TEXAS continues to be the number one cattle feeding state in the nation. There were 2,120,000 head of cattle and calves on feed for slaughter as of August 1 in Texas. This is 29 per cent above a year ago, but virtually the same as the number on feed a month ago.

Placements into Texas feedlots during July totaled 370,000 head. These placements are 39 per cent above July 1971 but 18 per cent below the previous month. Marketings of fat cattle during July totaled 369,000 head, which is 14 per cent above July 1971 but two per cent below marketings for June.

In the six-state major cattle feeding states--Texas, Arizona, California, Colorado, Iowa and Nebraska--cattle on feed total 7,784,000 head. This is 18 per cent above the 6,596,000 head on feed last year at this time, but is a three per cent decrease from a month ago.

Iowa is second ranking cattle on feed state with 1,561,000 head.

PRODUCTION of all major crops in Texas this year--with the exceptions of corn and rice--are expected to exceed production levels of 1971. Increased production in 1972 is expected as a result of an increase in acres for harvest and higher yield prospects over 1971.

Grain sorghum production is forecast at 336,000,000 bushels, up 11 per cent from 1971. Yield is expected to average 60 bushels per acre compared with 52 bushels in 1971. Harvest of the crop is now approaching the half-way mark.

Wheat production is estimated at 44,000,000 bushels, 40 per cent above last year. Yield is expected to average 22 bushels per acre.

Corn production is estimated at 35,000,000 bushels compared with 43,056,000 bushels in 1971.

Peanut production is estimated at 434,720,000 pounds compared with 366,795,000 pounds in 1971.

Oat production is estimated at 9,720,000 bushels compared with 5,994,000 bushels in 1972. Yield is expected to average 27 bushels per acre, the same for 1971.

Soybean production is estimated at 5,670,000 bushels in 1972. This compares with 2,781,000 bushels in 1971.

Rice production is forecast at 22,464,000 hundredweight; this compares with 22,932,000 hundredweight in 1971.

Range and non-irrigated pasture condition was 76 per cent of normal; this compares with 45 per cent a year ago.

Does the alarm clock get you up? No, it merely tells you it's time to get up. Whether you get out of bed is a matter of discipline.

Church bells don't bring anyone to church. They simply remind Christians where we ought to be on a Sunday morning. The rest is a matter of discipline.

Such discipline, whether it calls you to work or to worship, is fundamentally a trait of your own character. It begins with earnestness, it is strengthened by habit, it is directed toward any responsibility or opportunity which you value.

The value a person puts upon God and his own soul usually determines whether he worships each Sunday, or now and then. Put another way: the man who knows what worship and inspiration can mean in his life never is hesitant to get up and go.

And, of course, discipline has special meaning for a Christian: those who lived and worked with Christ were DISCIPLES.
